

D'SOUND

STARTS AND ENDS

Since their debut in 1997 (Spice of Life), the Norwegian trio D'Sound has had an impact on the Norwegian pop-scene. The band's line up of drums (Kim Ofstad), bass (Jonny Sjo) and vocals (Simone) and their various musical backgrounds (jazz, gospel/r&b, singer/songwriter) led the band to create their own distinct pop-sound.

Every album they've released ("Spice of Life" 1997, "Beauty is a blessing" 1998, "Talkin' talk" 2000, "Doublehearted" 2003, "My Today" 2005) contained a new interpretation of D'Sound's current musical influences over time; be it acid jazz, drum'n'bass, R&B, etc. Still D'Sound consider themselves, first and foremost, to be a pop act and they've always focused on what they call "the good song".

With the release of "Starts and Ends" D'Sound emerges as a duo, now consisting of Simone and Jonny Sjo. More melodious than ever and a new interpretation of what D'Sound was, is and will always be – songs that will stick to your brain and move your heart!
